

The Department of Decorative and Applied Arts at Yuriy Fedkovych Chernivtsi National University is where my artistic aspirations took flight. From day one of my studies, I felt respected and supported by the professors, who didn't just teach but opened endless possibilities and horizons before me.

Here, I was given the freedom to create, instilled with belief in my abilities, and always listened to. The result was not only my confidence in my artistic path but also securing the first place and a scholarship for studies at Think Tank

Training Center in Vancouver, one of the most prestigious 3D graphics schools in Canada.

I'm also thankful to the department for preparing me in immersive technologies, expanding my horizons, and keeping me up-to-date. Most importantly, assisting students at the college is my goal, together with you, to conquer artistic horizons. So, by continuing to share my experience, I believe in a powerful creative chain that's unstoppable.

Currently, my goal is to work for a major game studio such as PlayStation, Guerrilla Games, Ubisoft, Electronic Arts and more, to further grow my professionalism. The Department of Decorative and Applied Arts at Yuriy Fedkovych Chernivtsi National University has played a significant role in shaping this aspiration.

This department isn't just an educational institution, it's a community that believes in art and its craftsmanship. It doesn't just teach, it provides wings for creative flight.
